

Is My Assignment Ready To Be Submitted? Five Essential Questions to Ensure my Work Respects Intellectual Property

You have a Google account? Login first, then File Menu -> Make a copy

You don't have a Google account? File Menu -> Download to format...

Please read the license to make sure you understand the rights to reproduce or adapt this document under the Creative Commons CC BY-NC-SA 3.0 License

This decision-making tool for students was developed by the Service de développement pédagogique, des programmes et de la recherche of the Cégep Marie-Victorin in 2017. It is a teaching tool, a reference tool and a commitment contract. It was introduced during a presentation by Julie Verdy and Catherine Paquin-Boivin at the AQPC annual symposium in June 2017.

The aim of this tool is to support teachers and students when it comes to responsibility regarding intellectual integrity: to teach intellectual integrity in an explicit manner; to involve students in the process. To learn more, refer to the following page.

After having made a copy of this file, you may modify the hyperlinks featured in the tool, according to the resources you wish to refer students to. You may then send a copy of the electronic file to your students.

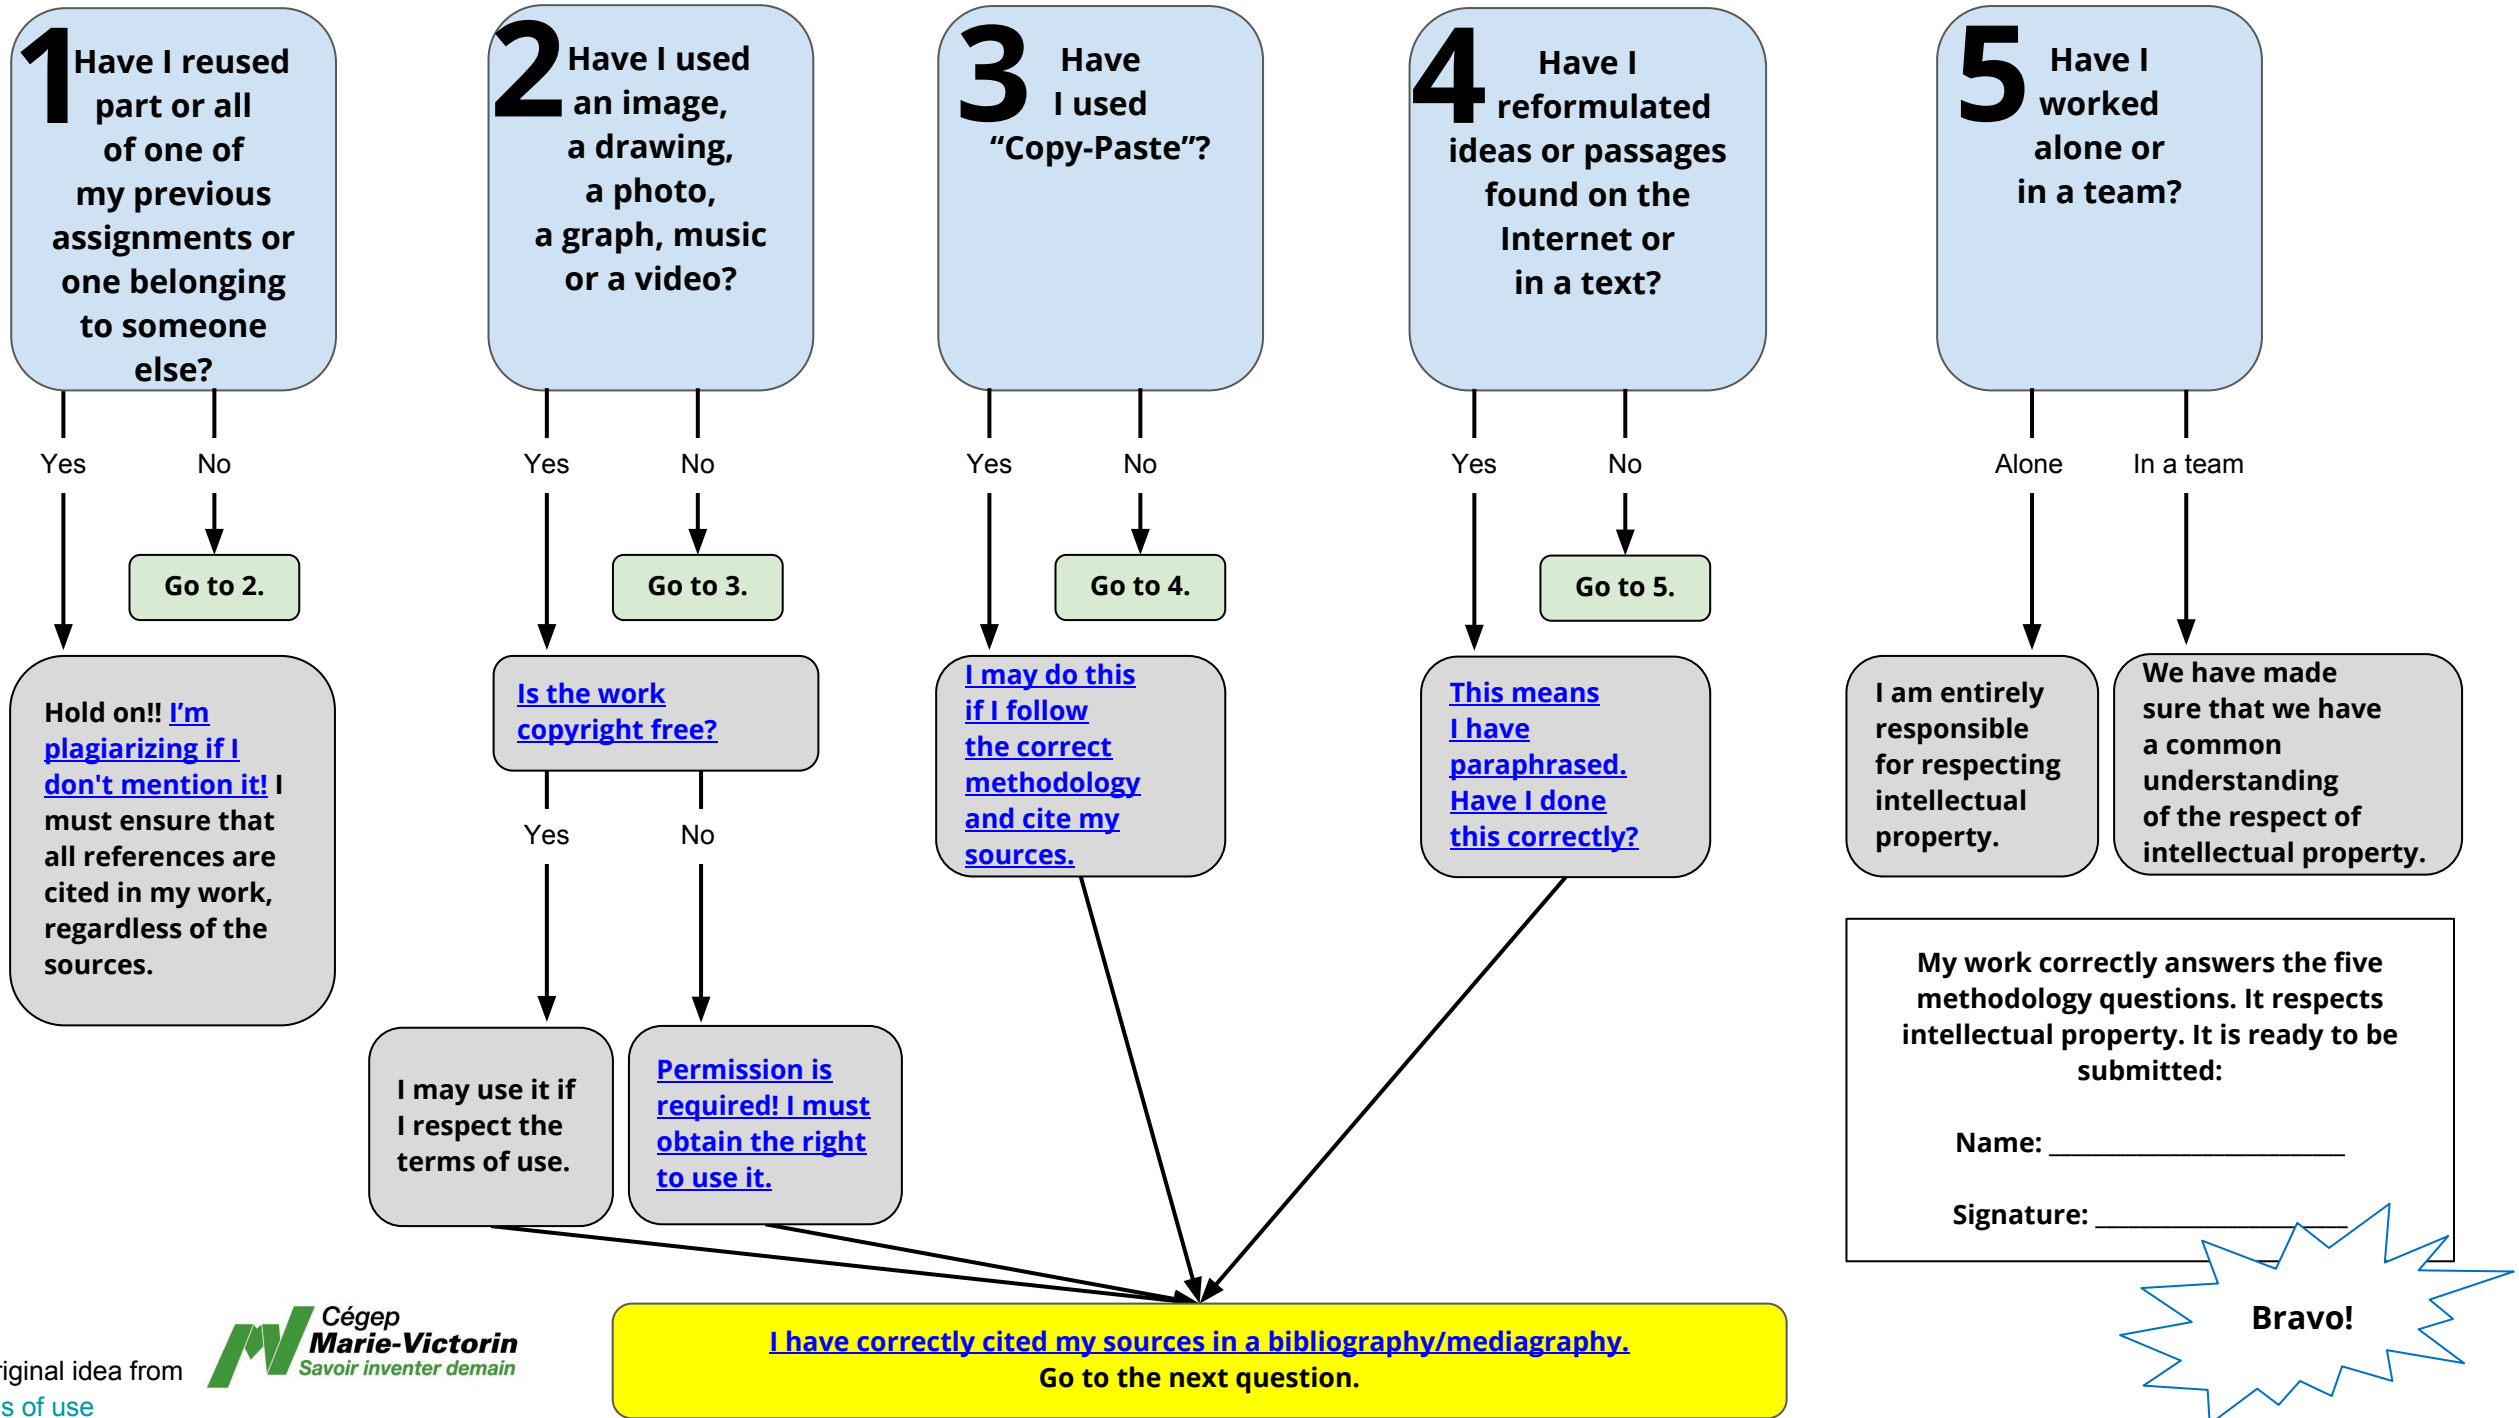

To learn more about how this tool was developed and its many uses, please view the slideshow used during the presentation at the AQPC symposium in June 2017 (in French).

Visit the ICTProfile.ca Web space for teaching and learning resources related to citing sources and producing a mediagraphy.

Is My Assignment Ready To Be Submitted?

Five essential methodology questions to ensure my work respects intellectual property

Is My Assignment Ready To Be Submitted?

Five essential methodology questions to ensure my work respects intellectual property

